

Doll of Mary Todd Lincoln

Date

late 19th to early 20th Century

Primary Maker

Mary Todd Lincoln

Medium

Cotton, kid leather, papier-mâché, paint and metal

Description

Doll of Mary Todd Lincoln as she would have looked between 1861-1865. The doll is dressed in a pink cotton gown trimmed in small pink and green flowered ruffles. Her head is made of papier-mâché with hand painted facial features and hair. Her arms are made of kid leather, and she is wearing white gloves, a metal bracelet, and a white beaded necklace.