Date

c. 1910

Medium

Paper and ink

Description

Valentine's Day greeting card in the form of a postcard, printed in Germany for the International Art Publishing Company which had headquarters in New York and Berlin. This card depicts a young girl wearing a flowered hat inside of a red heart frame, and to her left an envelope which reads: To the One I Love. On the reverse, the postcard is addressed to Miss Julia Magill and reads: from your school mate Luella. The word "Harper" is also written at the bottom. This card has no stamp or postmarks, indicating that it was probably given by hand. From other cards in this collection, we know that Miss Julia Magill lived in Orange, California.
