Basic Detail Report

Export Painting

Date late 19th Century

Primary Maker Cantonese

Medium Gouache on pith paper

Description

Intended for foreign consumption, Chinese export paintings were painted by artisans from Canton and other Chinese ports and often sold as souvenirs to European and later American merchants in the 18th and 19th centuries. They typically illustrate daily life, colorful costumes, and the flora and fauna of China in order to satisfy foreign customers and their curiosity of the Middle Kingdom.

Dimensions

Framed: 11 13/16 \times 9 5/16 \times 1/2 in. (30 \times 23.7 \times 1.3 cm)