

Basic Detail Report

Vessel

Date

mid 20th Century

Medium

Ceramic

Description

This reddish ceramic vessel with a rounded base was likely used to store water or dry food. Its attribution is uncertain, but based on the color of the clay and the incised cross-hatch designs, it may have been made by an individual from the Idoma people of Nigeria, or possibly the Lobi or Nuna peoples of Burkina Faso.

Dimensions

15 1/2 × 14 × 14 in. (39.4 × 35.6 × 35.6 cm)